BOB-BOB-BOBBIN' ALONG...

A message from our President

Dear September Stitches,

Went to the Springfield Quilt Show last week. I picked up several ideas for our show and observed many things that I liked better about our show. I hope as you all go to shows, meetings, retreats and other quilty events that you take note of the details and send the ideas to someone on the Quilt Show Committee. There are many great ideas out there that might make our show better.

Many of you remember Grace Owen, who is still a long distance member of our guild. She was my quilting buddy for many years until she moved to Nixa to live near her granddaughter. I had such a great time hanging out with her at the show and spending time with her and her dear husband, Gene in their home.

She is one of my quilting influences. She gets the newsletter so I am sure she will read this. Grace is masterful with handwork. She even hand pieces sometimes! She drug me kicking and screaming to hand applique groups and even bribed me with lovely Sunbonnet Sues she had cut out. She gave them to me under the condition that I hand applique them. The nerve of her!!!! I was always the designated heckler at any of her classes or tutorials. My favorite was her ruching class. There are so many fun things to say that includes "ruching".

When Grace and I took trips, I usually drove. I was all about the destination--how fast can we get there, what is the shortest route, can we make it without stopping? Grace was all about the journey--the color of the trees, new houses that have sprung up, shopping at convenience stores along the way, sighting roadside stands selling whatever, enjoying the ride.

Grace and I became friends because we had quilting in common, but we grew as quilters and friends because of our different approaches to quilting and our journey. I hope as you take this journey of life, that you are able to find companions that challenge you, sustain you, make you laugh, and show you a different path. It makes it far more interesting. Let one or more of your quilting influences know how they have affected your life. More importantly, be an influence in someone else's life.

Hopefully Cassie will be able to include the picture of Grace and her quilt at the Springfield Show. She received a 3rd place ribbon for her hand quilted and hand appliqued masterpiece. She was in a crazy category for unusual techniques, I think. Her quilt did not match the category. Hope some of you got to see it.

Your Stitchy Sovereign,

Kathy

HOW I STARTED QUILTING

featuring... Lynne Lukas

My mother, Phyllis Lukas and I signed up to take a beginner quilting class at Patchwork Emporium in Rogers, AR during the summer of 1981. I passed and she failed. Then, we both signed up to take a knitting class that same summer. She passed and I failed. However, when Phyllis moved to Bella Vista in her mid-forties, she joined a quilting group and became an excellent quilter. Her masterpiece is a Baltimore Album quilt that I am hand quilting as she passed away in April of 2014. My mother passed on the sewing tradition, and both of my daughters now sew and quilt.

MEMORIES CREATED: THE 39TH ANNUAL OZARK QUILT FAIR

by Jan Murray Brown

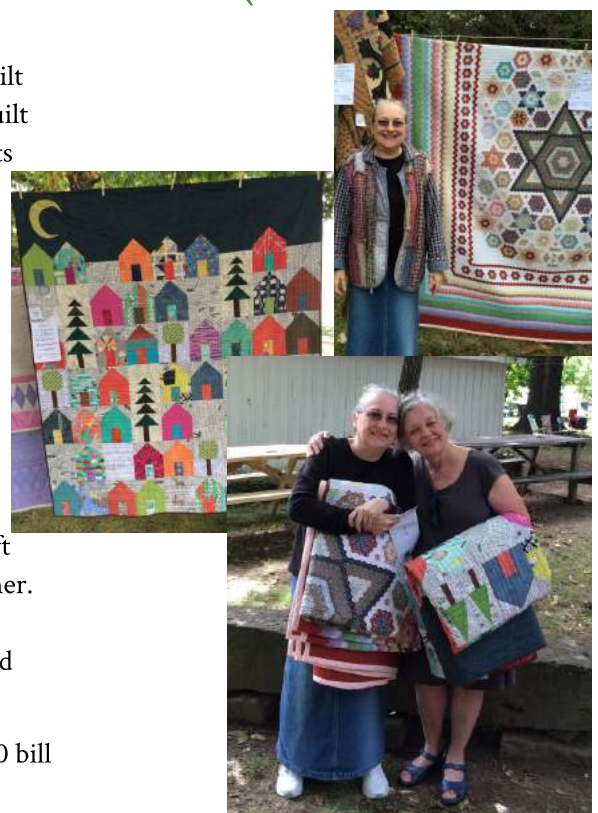

This past Saturday (September 10th) I entered the 39th Annual Ozark Quilt Fair at Shiloh Museum of Ozark History in Springdale. This clothesline quilt show is a good one because the public is introduced to many beautiful quilts and people get to actually touch the quilts.

The day was glorious and sunny. My quilter friend Mary Spillman from Hill N Holler Quilter's Guild in Mountain Home came over from Yellville with a stack of her quilts. She had an especially beautiful one, made by her mother in 1987, created entirely little hexagons, hand-pieced and hand-quilted! Tremendous piece. It looks like a mosaic.

As the day turned out, Mary won 1st place in the "Antique" category. And I won 1st place in the "Contemporary" category!!!!

(My winning quilt is called "Home is Where the Art Is." It is a wedding gift for an art teacher friend from U of A and his new bride who is a city planner. Fabrics are mostly designer fabrics from Carrie Bloomston; pattern called "Suburbs" with my own addition of moon, stars, trees...machine pieced and machine quilted.)

We were both over-the-moon pleased and excited. We each received a $50 bill from Arvest Bank. It was super-FUN!

RETREAT

JULY 21ST - 24TH, 2016

MISSOURI STAR QUILT CO.

The Essence of Retreat by Cassie Robinson

Missouri Star Quilt Company Retreat. The first four words many of you may already be familiar with. I mean, who doesn't know of the charismatic Jenny Doan?? Certainly not many quilters. But when you put that last word to use, when you add 'Retreat' to the mix, that changes everything.

How do you sum up four days in what has been coined the Disneyland of Quilting?

Do you start with the shopping? Shops with bolts and bolts and bolts of beautiful fabrics; something for everyone to gaze at in wonderment and inevitably leave with yardage of some variety (or multiple varieties of yardage. Maybe even a sewing machine!).

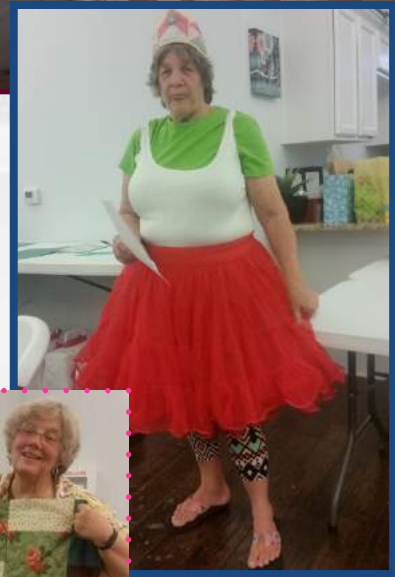

Or do you start with the retreat center itself? Cozy rooms neatly aligning the upstairs hallway with quilts adorning the walls and a very spacious sewing space occupying the underneath.

Maybe you start with the town of Hamilton. Just a small town tucked into, what seems like, nowhere. A charming downtown with everything you need within walking distance; restaurants (shakes, even!), a grocery store, a small park, a bank, and of course, the aforementioned shopping.

Should you start with the quilting? After all, that is one of the reasons you have come, to tackle some (because you know you have too many to finish all of them in four days) of your projects. You unpack your machine, your cutters, your mat, your fabrics, your pattern. The whir of the sewing machine takes you on to a sense of accomplishment, to pride, to thinking of that person your project is for. Happiness finds you in these moments (seam ripping, or not). Soon, you share your project with others; we are all curious of what you are up to, and we share ours with you.

And then, suddenly, you realize where you should start. Missouri Star Quilt Company Retreat can certainly be described as somewhere you go to shop, stay in a retreat center, discover a small hometown & get some quilting done. But it is so much more than that. You have learned that, really, it is about relationships. It is about your quilting family. You learn of kids and grandkids, battles with cancer, you learn of interests outside of quilting (it happens!), where your friends come from and their experiences, of friendships and family. You laugh together, and if you decide to do the jelly roll race, you cry together. You congratulate each other, you eat together, you help each other, you adventure with Flat Jenny together. You cheer for each other, you stay up late together, you prepare meals together, you definitely shop together, and yep, you might even bunk together.

Through it all, good, bad, and indifferent, your family will be there. Drawn together by quilting, yes, but held together by so much more. Retreat has now become your glue, your quilt sandwich. In this moment, in this place, this is where your happiness becomes your joy.

MISSOURI STAR
QUILT CO.

This was our second Stitchy Women retreat, but it felt like we had known each other forever. Such a talented, gifted, giving group of women. I spent a lot of time ripping, but loved talking with everyone (hence the ripping)."

"This was the best weekend for me! I wasn't able to be at the retreat last year to stay, only as a visitor due to my family reunion, but what I saw was everyone busy, laughing, working, and just having a great time together. It wasn't until I attended this year that I realized how much of a wonderful time everyone had. The fellowship, the learning, the games, just being there with everyone of those awesome ladies made this weekend a special one for me and I'm totally excited about next year!

Thank you Kathy and Carla for making this a fun experience! "

Program: Lori Jones

Lori introduced tonight's speaker Paula Mariedaughter - Diagonal Designs make Dynamic Quilts.

To open the program, Paula Mariedaughter, Adele Atha, Therese Ramsey and Kathy Garringer all came in wearing 60's style clothing and danced their way to the front of the room to "We Are Family", as Paula stated in her opening remarks, we, the members of the guild, are all family.

Paula has been quilting for over 20 years, and has been fascinated by fabric since an early age. Her goal is to share ideas and help people to use their imagination when thinking of a quilt. Some of her types of quilts are whole cloth, blocks, and stripy to name just a few. She brought and shown many of her quilts, some vintage where she had redone them in her style; several had pictures in them and all her labels told a story of the blocks or quilts. When you make directional lines, break up the block gives it interest and makes it interesting. Paula finds fabrics in some very unusual places; she uses different things such as a shower curtain or clothing. She thinks that different fabrics make unique quilts. Another idea of hers is if you start a project and find out you hate it, use this as the backing for a quilt that you do like that way your backs are unique too. Add elements, think about backgrounds, get a feeling of dark and light, color gets the credit but value does the work. Put some diagonal feeling in each quilt; drag your diagonal into the border for more contrast too.

Paula's ideas of use of fabric, color, design, and techniques encourage all of us to think outside the normal quilt patterns and try something totally different and hopefully diagonal.
